COMMERCIAL HANDBOOK

An information summary for E&P managers

Licencing, Permitting and Gas Marketing in Ireland

PAD Special Publication 1/06

This handbook provides up-to-date information on the important commercial aspects of Irish E&P. It brings together the upstream and downstream sectors to summarise the end-to-end process, from licence entry through field development to gas marketing. The handbook is a companion to the geotechnical atlases and other publications that are being developed by the PAD to support ongoing licensing activity. The Atlases provide fresh analyses of the basins, their resources, the subsurface risks and the possible mitigators.
